

Sensitivity of Transmission Tests for Avocado Sunblotch Viroid and Other Pathogens.

RN Allan and DJ Firth

Abstract

It is recommended that the absence of ASBV from avocado clones should be determined by both a graft transmission test and a cross protection test. Five indicator plants should be used with each test and the observation period should be at least 2 yr.

1980. Australasian Plant Pathology 9(1) 2 - 3